Nazi Home Front Rocks Under New Assaults Of RAF

War Foundries City of Oberhausen and Other Objectives Targets for Fourth Night of Raids in a Row

DUESSELDORF ONE OF CHIEF CITIES ABANDONED

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

A mass evacuation of cities in western Germany and Berlin itself to escape the tempest of Allied bombs was reported in Bern today, even as the Nazi home front shook under a violent new assault by fleets of RAF block-buster planes thundering over the Ruhr.

With more than 12,000,000 pounds of explosives already dropped on Germany since last Friday, RAF pre-dawn raiders returned to the attack for the fourth night in a row, pounding the war foundries city of Oberhausen and other objectives. Berlin said the damage was severe.

German newspapers reaching Bern, Switzerland, acknowledged that refugees were fleeing the western Reich's "bomb alley" as a result of 180 heavy Allied raids and 600 air alarms, and urged the German people to open their homes to evacuees.

Bomb-battered Duesseldorf, target of a recent 2,000-ton RAF raid, was said to be one of the chief cities being abandoned.

Das Reich said the evacuation scheme called for refugees from Berlin to go to Brandenburg, East Prussia and Pomerania, while others from northern Westphalia (the Ruhr) went to Bavaria.

A British air ministry communiqué said the RAF's main attack during the night set big fires at Oberhausen (Pop. 10,000), an important steel and coal center on the Rhine, three miles west of much-bombed Essen.

At the same time, swarms of lighter RAF planes bombed, cannonaded and machine-gunned railways, water transport and airfields just behind the Nazi-occupied "invasion" coast from Holland to northern France.

Eighteen RAF planes were listed as missing.

In the Mediterranean, enemy broadcasts again asserted that Allied warships and transports were massing in the Sicilian Straits, ostensibly preparing for the grand assault on southern Europe, and declared the fleet under heavy attack by Axis warplanes. Confirmation from Allied sources was lacking.

The London Express was quoted by the Rome radio as saying that "a battle which has now lasted for three days and has not lost any of its violence" was raging in a triangular area between Malta, Bizerte and the Sicilian coast.

ENE, the German news agency, asserted that Nazi bombers damaged six Allied medium transports and a landing craft off Pantelleria. A previous Berlin broadcast said at least 20 landing barges were sunk in Bizerte harbor among "a large concentration of means of disembarkation."

With Axis alarms ringing to peak intensity, Allied bombers continued their deadly "softening up" attacks on Italy's immediate outer defenses, centering their heaviest blows on Sicily off the toe of the Italian mainland.

American Liberator bombers, flying across the Mediterranean from the Middle East, hammered the Sicilian air bases at Catania and Gerbini in daylight Sunday, and a few hours later the RAF's Wellingtons struck from North Africa against the Port of Messina. RAF long-range fighters also attacked shipping in the Aegean sea off Greece.

Italian headquarters said Allied planes carried on the round-the-clock assault yesterday, raiding Castelvetro in Sicily.

Berlin acknowledged heavy damage and casualties in the RAF's overnight smash at Oberhausen. (Turn to Page Seven)

AID TO CHINA IS DISCUSSED BY STILWELL

Lieutenant General in Chungking Warns of Tough Job Ahead Defeating the Japs

TO GET STARTED SOON

By the Associated Press

Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, returning to the China war front from strategy conferences in Washington, declared today that "we have a hell of a hard job ahead" to crush Japan, but emphasized that the Allies were determined to start rolling as soon as possible.

Stilwell told newsmen in Chungking, China's war-time capital, that "China was thoroughly considered and her war needs gone into at length" during the Roosevelt-Churchill conferences with top Allied military chiefs in Washington.

"We have a savage enemy, and there's plenty of him," Stilwell said.

"There'll be a lot of hard fighting, but we are thoroughly determined to get after him."

Syrian Border Will Be Closed

Ankara, Turkey, June 15—(P)—Allied authorities will close the Syrian border with Turkey at 6 o'clock tonight, semi-official sources said today. Turkish authorities profess not to know why the border is being closed or how long it will remain shut. Syria is under control of the Fighting French.

Admiral Sir John Cunningham, new British commander-in-chief in the Levant, arrived by plane from Cairo Saturday and spent an hour and a half in conference with President Ismet Inonu yesterday.

Before calling upon the president he held conferences with Premier Sukru Saracoglu, foreign minister and Chief of Staff Marshal Fevzi Cavak. The admiral was scheduled to leave today.

'Scuse the familiarity, but we need your attention in a hurry. If you're a Warren housewife—or a Sheffield, Youngsville or Clarendon, Barnes or Weldbank housewife—you have a tin can job to do tonight.

Every can must be washed, labels removed, ends knocked out, and flattened. Every can must be in a handy container on your curb either the last thing tonight or the first thing tomorrow morning.

That is, if you haven't already done that important job! Collection trucks will be at your curb bright and early tomorrow. Please don't disappoint them! Thank you.

Luxury Service is Abolished In Hotels In Philadelphia

Guests Are Limited to One Face and Bath Towel Daily

39 SIGN AGREEMENT

BY EDWARD F. CREAGH
Philadelphia, June 15—(P)—Breakfast in bed, the eggs and fried scrapple as traditional in this Quaker City as the Saturday night scrub—became a war casualty in hotels and clubs today.

Room service, linen napkins and fresh sheets nightly were abolished in one fell swoop, and guests were limited to one face towel and one bath towel daily in a move to conserve manpower and keep Philadelphia from being declared a critical labor shortage area.

The "blow" fell equally on the war-brought transient population, said by the hotel men to have increased 60 per cent in the past year, and on silver-haired dowagers who have made their home in the more exclusive hostels as long as the oldest desk clerks can remember.

The agreement also provides that women assume the duties of elevator operators, auditors, room clerks and "some heavy work usually done by men" and that physically handicapped men be employed in such jobs as freight elevator operator and night clerk.

The agreement was signed by 39 hotels and the Union League, University, Racquet and Engineers Clubs.

Continuance Of The N.Y.A. Is Uncertain

Washington, June 15—(P)—A bare majority of the house appropriations committee carried to the floor today its fight to kill off the National Youth Administration (NYA).

Although several other new deal agencies have felt the heat of a congressional economy drive, only one has actually perished thus far—the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

By the close vote of 17 to 16, the committee struck from a federal security agency supply bill yesterday a sub-committee's recommendation that NYA be given $40,800,000 to carry on a limited program during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Instead, the full committee ordered the agency liquidated not later than next January 1 and gave it $3,000,000 from unexpended balances of previous appropriations to wind up its affairs.

Last year NYA received approximately $60,000,000, and for the new year the budget called for about $55,000,000.

NYA, one of the depression-born relief agencies, was set up in 1935 to conduct industrial training schools in different parts of the country for youths of 17 to 24.

ITALIANS ARE STANDING BY FOR INVASION

Rome Broadcast Recorded In London Reports Intense Air and Sea Activity

BATTLESHIPS MASSING

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, June 15—(P)—The Wellington workhorses of the RAF drilled the east Sicilian shipping and ferry terminal of Messina with two-ton blockbusters and showered it with incendiaries Sunday night, Allied headquarters announced today, as preliminary attacks continued on the large islands guarding the Tyrrhenian Sea approaches to Italy.

For the second successive day, however, the northwest African air forces delayed all-out assault. The communiqué of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced that operations yesterday were confined to reconnaissance and patrolling. (A Rome radio commentator, in a broadcast recorded in London, told Italians to stand by for an Allied invasion, and other Rome and Berlin broadcasts contrived to give a picture of intense air and sea activity in the invasion triangle between Malta, Bizerte and Sicily.)

(It was not clear, however, whether the activities centered about the massing of an Allied invasion fleet, the ferrying of Italian prisoners of war from the captured island of Pantelleria or Allied preparations to convert Pantelleria into an Allied base.)

(London newspapers quoted the Rome radio as saying that Allied warships and transports were massing in the Sicilian Strait, and that Axis planes had engaged Allied convoys in an almost continuous battle for the last three days and that the fight "has not lost any of its violence.")

(A German broadcast, quoted by the London Express, declared the Allies had massed "a large (Turn to Page Seven)

Food "Czar" Issue Meets Opposition

Battle Over Proposal Of One-Man Boss Rolls Back To White House

DAVIS IS MENTIONED

BULLETIN
Washington, June 15—(P)—Six members of the house agriculture committee laid before President Roosevelt today their demands for creation of a single head over all phases of the food program. But they left the White House apparently without having received much encouragement. Chairman Fulmer (D-SC) said he had a feeling that "they want to continue with this experimenting and Congress definitely doesn't want to do it and the people don't want to do it."

By JACK BELL
Washington, June 15—(P)—The battle of the food price front rolled back to the White House today with new congressional demands for appointment of a one-man boss over the war-time bread basket.

As labor and farm leaders squared off for another skirmish before the senate banking committee, Chairman Fulmer (D-SC) led a bi-partisan delegation of house agriculture committee members to a White House conference with a vowed aim of convincing President Roosevelt something should be done at once to consolidate the food authority which Fulmer said is "scattered all over the landscape."

A delegation of five senators and four house members presented a similar proposal yesterday but ran up against the opposition. (Turn to Page Seven)

One Survivor Of Civil War At Meeting

York, June 15—(P)—Past Department Commander Alfred W. Gabrio, Hazleton, 87-year-old veteran of the Civil War, is the lone member of the Grand Army of the Republic in attendance at the opening of the 77th encampment of the Department of Pennsylvania, G. A. R., in this city this morning. Comrade Gabrio read a poem at York's Flag Day exercises yesterday afternoon on the court house plaza.

The 60th annual encampment of the auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, the 58th session of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic and the 31st annual meeting of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War will take place tomorrow morning.

The opening session of the 63rd annual Department Encampment of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Walter Mable, president, will be in charge of the annual gathering of the Federated Patriotic Societies this evening.

Annual Flag Day Observance Under Auspices of Elks Is Great Success

THE PARADE
Warren last evening staged perhaps the finest Flag Day celebration that has ever been held in the Community. From the early hours of the morning when Old Glory broke from a myriad of flag poles about the town until the folds of the flag fell into loving arms as the red sunset blazed as the flag came down it really was a day of tribute to the National emblem.

And climaxed the day was a parade in which the Nation at War was portrayed by the Home Defense Units all of which turned out in strength to evidence the willingness of the people to unfold the traditions of the flag. For days past the experienced committee had been hard at work on the plans and the results were apparent. (Turn to Page Five)

NOTES
Warren's experts on parades moved another one on time, 7:15 was the hour and the roll of drums was heard exactly at that hour.

When the parade swung into Pennsylvania avenue the sun blinded the marchers and caused the bandmen in line to march almost by guess.

Everyone felt sorry for the nine masked men who sweltered in the heat and they were really entitled to some extra commendation.

Vets of the World War included Machinists Mate Elmer Munksgard, who won his first service ribbon in World War I. He is a (Turn to Page Five)

THE EXERCISES
The largest crowd that ever attended such an exercise in Warren gathered in the vicinity of Fourth avenue and Hickory street for the annual Flag Day ritual sponsored by the Warren Lodge of Elks last evening following the spectacular parade.

A highlight of the program was the stirring address by Hon. Leon H. Gavin, of Oil City, representative in congress from the 20th Pennsylvania district, who delivered a ringing appeal for all Americans to remember the traditions behind the flag and exert every effort in the preservation of the democracy.

"We face the greatest crisis in our history," Congressman Gavin asserted, "but we shall meet this (Turn to Page Five)

U-Boats Carrying Brunt Of War In The Pacific Area

Secretary Knox Declares Loss of Amberjack and Gramous Has Been Avenged

FLEET IS INCREASED

By the Associated Press
Washington, June 15—(P)—The navy promised more bad news for the Japanese today to pile on top of the report of 12 more of their vessels being sunk by submarines. Secretary Knox reported that the eight American submarines so far reported lost have been replaced "many times over."

The secretary's disclosure at a press conference followed navy announcements yesterday that United States under-sea rovers have sunk 12 more Japanese ships and damaged five for a total to date of 256 enemy vessels destroyed or damaged.

The submarines are carrying the brunt of the war in the Pacific, along with planes, and Knox was asked when the present "hull" in large scale combat would break up.

"I can't tell you," he said, "except that it takes an awfully long while to get ready for any kind of sizeable movement."

The secretary said that the increase in the American submarine fleet—which is known to be operating primarily in the Pacific—was attained as a steady growth rather than as any sudden building up of the force.

"We have added a small number every month, giving us a steady addition," Knox declared.

Another factor explaining the increase in ships destroyed as indicated by yesterday's announcement was due not only to the increase in the number of American submarines but also to the (Turn to Page Seven)

MAY DELAY CONSCRIPTION OF FATHERS

Selective Service Officials Moved to Speed Induction of 18-25 Childless Men

CHANGE IN STANDARDS
Washington, June 15—(P)—A possibility that the drafting of fathers may be delayed until October 1 was indicated by selective service officials today as they moved to speed the induction of 18-25-year-old childless men now deferred on occupational grounds.

This effort to hold up the fathers' draft well beyond the last officially-mentioned date, August 1, was disclosed in instructions on the filing by employees of schedules covering occupational deferments.

Another move toward deferring the father draft was seen in testimony before a house committee that the calling of family heads might be set back some weeks by the lowering of navy physical requirements to a degree that would enable induction of many men previously rejected.

The new instructions suggested for the first time that fathers be listed for occupational deferment on schedules filed after July 1, but that they should not be listed unless the work-deferment was sought for some period extending beyond October 1.

Hitherto, fathers have been omitted from these "replacement schedules," which set up time tables showing how workers can be released without disrupting production.

By suggesting that employers list fathers only when seeking their occupational deferment beyond October 1, the instructions implied that they would not need work-deferment until after that date, but that they would be deferred until then by reason of having children.

The instructions specified that schedules filed after July 1 must provide for release of occupation-ally deferred childless men aged 18 to 25 unless their jobs are exceptionally important to the war effort and extremely difficult to fill.

Finance Bill Handed Jolt By McKellar

Washington, June 15—(P)—The senate wades into a $226,105,758 appropriations bill today after handing the administration a jolt in the McKellar bill battle.

The money bill carries $33,940,358 to train civilian pilots.

Overriding a vigorous protest by President Roosevelt, the chamber passed 42 to 29 yesterday a measure by Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn.) to require confirmation of most government workers drawing $4,500 or more a year.

Administration hopes to head it off now are pinned on the possibility it could be pigeonholed in some house committee.

The $33,940,358 proposed by the appropriations committee would provide for the training during the next fiscal year of 8,648 student pilots, a number that McCarran estimated would produce 7,200-instructor course graduates for the army.

The men were originally enlisted as reservists on inactive duty for training for glider pilots, ferry command and other assignments.

Fascists Hit By Governor

Philadelphia, June 15—(P)—"Economic Fascists" in Washington are planning to create "a race of faceless, sheltered, docile Americans, willing to give up every right except the right to live, in exchange for a false security," says Pennsylvania's Governor Martin.

The Republican chief executive charged in a Flag Day address at Independence Hall that the report of the National Resources Planning Board is "the holy book of the new American order" and that it proposes "the system whereby our economic Fascists hope to control every step taken by Americans from their cradles to their graves."

"These powerful groups of politico-social planners," Martin declared, "plan to use our wartime economy as the pattern for a peace-time economy."

The planning board's individual security report, he said, will create "a new pyramid of power" in the hands of "tax-gathering, tax-eating parasites and a new breed of self-perpetuating tycoons."

NAVAL MAN LOST IN SINKING OF PLANE

Philadelphia, June 15—(P)—Hope was abandoned today for a navy man who was with Lt. Lawrence F. Steffenhagen, naval aviator and former University of Colorado football star, in a plane which sank to the bottom of the Delaware river after making a forced landing yesterday.

Lt. Steffenhagen, pilot of the test flight, was rescued by a navy boat and his companion, whose name was withheld pending notification of next of kin, "was seen swimming near the point where the plane sank but disappeared and is believed drowned."

Program Proposed For Lunch Approved By School Patrons

Complete tabulation has now been made of parent responses to the letter recently sent out by school officials concerning a proposed continuing program to be followed during the school day and permitting students but 30 minutes for lunch in order to be dismissed from classes at an earlier hour.

Superintendent of Schools Rossman reports an amazing vote result in total numbers, with 1,283 pupils represented by the parental votes cast from a total of 1,317, or approximately 98% of the student body. More than 800 favored the proposed continuing program, with little difference shown in regard to place of residence, 643 living in town voting yes for 64% and 200 saying aye out of the district for a figure of 68%.

Persons totaling 253 or 19% in all voted to continue the present arrangement, with in-towns standing at 20% and rural votes at 17% of those voting. Those having no definite conviction toward either course netted 189 votes or approximately 15% here, again, the out of town vote being practically the same as that totaled in the borough.

With these figures in hand, school authorities will now place the matter before the committee on schools and, if deemed advisable by it, these two steps will be taken: 1. Refer the matter to the board of education as a whole as a question of policy. 2. Call either the presidents or the entire membership of boards of the rural districts whose elementary school program would be affected, endeavoring to work out with them a cooperative program in the matter of bus transportation.

As stated previously in these columns, this project cannot be set except as a satisfactory program can be worked out with these rural districts and will not be set up unless an adequate program is worked out to take up the surplus time provided the students through their earlier release from classes in the afternoon.

Enrollments Offer Training In Vital War Work by College

There was once a story about a man who spent the better part of his life searching all over the world for diamonds. Finally, discouraged and weary, he came home and upon digging in his own back yard found the diamonds he had been looking for.

Our government is looking for diamonds to help win the war. These diamonds are, in fact, the hidden talents and abilities that are so often found in the persons just like the people of Warren. A quiet, modest housewife happens to enroll in a class in Engineering only to discover she has natural abilities for mechanics and is now a supervisor or an inspector in a large war plant. A young man who had been delivering bread, discovers that he has the talents of an expert draftsman. And so it goes. Men and women who thought themselves to have little or no ability discover, when the opportunities present themselves, that they have capabilities of which they never dreamed. Not only are these people making a great contribution to the war effort, but they are getting the personal satisfaction that comes from earning a good salary and doing an interesting job. That is Democracy in action! Simply, the more useful we make ourselves, the more we are serving both ourselves and our country.

The Federal Government, through the Pennsylvania State College, has made available these opportunities in Warren. Facilities in the form of classrooms, instructors, laboratory equipment, explanatory, moving pictures and text and reference books are available at no cost. Only a war could make possible these opportunities to the people of Warren and vicinity. Under the peace-time point of view, the cost would be out of the question, but the necessity to win the war is above the calculation of the cost. The fact is ever present that trained men and women are needed in war industries at any cost.

The only reason our Federal Government is not conducting a larger training program in Warren is the seemingly lack of interest of the people here. Money that is not spent here to carry out this program, will be spent in other communities where interest is not lacking. Would it not be unfortunate if these excellent training opportunities would be lost to this community? Classes are being organized now for a summer program; why not go to the High School, Monday, June 14 at 7:00 p. m. and find out how you can be of service to yourself and to your country.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Soderburg, 109 Parker street, have had an interesting communication from the former's brother, Paul, who is somewhere in the southwest Pacific, telling that their nephew, Howard A. Soderburg, has a prized possession in a yen (value about $5) which was taken from a Japanese soldier killed in action in that vicinity. The young man is a grandson of Mrs. J. E. Soderburg, who also resides at the above address.

Pfc. Robert R. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Baker, 9 Ellison street, Clarion, is one of the new arrivals at Michigan State College, East Lansing, receiving a course of approximately five months' instruction prior to his appointment as an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces.

George Nagurny, second class seaman, has returned to Great Lakes, Ill., from where he expects to be transferred to another station for further training. He was granted a nine-day leave at home following completion of his basic training at Great Lakes.

Staff Sgt. Kenneth W. Fox, of Russell, has returned to Camp Lee, Va., after a week's furlough at home and with friends and relatives in Warren, Clarion, Youngsville and Erie. On the train, home with him were Paul VanOrd and Mrs. VanOrd, also of Russell, and from his own outfit, Staff Sgt. Martin, of Erie, who also returned to camp with him. They were delayed for several hours because of a landslide near Johnsonburg but finally got through.

From somewhere "overseas", David H. Jack, of Corydon, has received a most interesting communication from a former Cory-

Store Surprised When Police Report Bad Check In Register

It was another of those week-ends for Warren's police—when the wind shone warm midsummer breezes wafted to and fro and the green grass grew all around. But the police were busy. It started Saturday when Nick Cheronis called headquarters and said a youth had been in there trying to cash a check and that it looked a wee bit phoney.

Then the wheels of the department began to turn and in a short time a lad answering the description was picked up at the bus station. He had a ticket to New York, a suit case from the Murphy store and a determination to run away and see the sights. At headquarters he explained that he had cashed a $15 check at the Montgomery Ward store and was on his way. The check was on a Youngsville bank. A telephonic inquiry from the police to the Youngsville bank elicited the fact that the boy had had a $20 balance, but that on the day before he had bought a rifle and shot his bank balance full of holes. So Montgomery Ward was notified that they had a bad check for $15 in their cash drawer.

The boy's father came up after the lad and adjusted the matter to the satisfaction of the store and police and instead of seeing New York the boy will take a job on a farm.

A passel of drunks was gathered up and Sunday morning they took their headachings and parched tongues before Magistrate Greenlund, where they drew the usual "fine and costs."

A sparrow evidently tried to give Herb of the United Cigar Store the "bird." The sparrow flew into the store and fluttered about the heads of the customers causing them to think hurriedly of the old-time superstition that "a bird in the hair means the black angel is fluttering about."

Officer Conboy aided in tracking down the bird and escorting it to the exterior.

And then three dogs joined in a chorus on Buchanan street. They sang loud and long, until neighbors intervened with a call for the police and the dogs got along to the city kennels. Exit!

A family fight had to be adjusted in the best Solomonese manner and a peace treaty was signed. While his assailants had no zoot suits, a boy from the island was beaten up by two others. Warrants will probably be served to-day.

A croquet set that had been displayed in front of a store when it closed after the day's business was taken to headquarters. As yet the boys have not tried it out on the rolling lawn of the city building.

A 14-year-old boy attired in a Boy Scout uniform and a blue coat was reported missing. He left home Friday and as yet has not been reported to the police as having returned.

A grass fire and a burning tar heater gave the police some excitement and they did their chores, such as trying the door knobs, escorting money to the banks, guarding mail, locking doors that were open and giving first aid to a damsel in distress who had cut her thumb, all went to make up one of those weekends when not much was doing but the boys were busy.

An over abundance of cheer was taken on by a trio near Count's Restaurant last evening and it roused childish fancies. So one of the trio doffed his garments and leaped into the sparkling (?) waters of the Allegheny. When he came up he looked like a veteran from a torpedoed ship where the oil flowed all around. He was full of oil and water and the cops dragged him ashore and escorted him and the other two-thirds of the trio to the calaboose.

And the fire ladies did their bit, too. Saturday they had the red wagons rolling three times. Early in the morning hours a guest at the Carver House did a bit of smoking in bed. Result, one mattress and one box spring with neat holes burned in them. Then at 8 o'clock in the morning a tar heater used by men of the Walter Hardware Company caught fire on the shores of the old mill stream. It had to be cooled off and the flames extinguished. Plenty of smoke, but very little fire. The third call of the day came from Muir street, where a victory gardener was burning grass and weeds preparatory to plowing a lot. Yesterday an alarm took the boys to Pennsylvania avenue, west, where an auto owned by Casper Hale was ablaze. Damage was slight.

Edquist's Off To New Home In Chicago

Rev. Bertil Edquist, who has resigned the pastorate of St. Paul's Lutheran church here to accept a new charge in Chicago, Ill., left Monday with his family for their new home, taking with him the best wishes of his congregation and many friends made since he came to this community.

The farewell reception planned by the board of administration and supervised by Sam Davis, vice chairman of church council, attracted a large number to the church to extend best wishes and to enjoy the following program:

Hymn, congregation; devotions, Pastor Carl Gronquist, Sheffield; vocal solo, "O Lord Most Holy" by Frank, Miss Virginia Davis, with accompaniment by Mrs. Emil Jacobson, organist, and Miss Charlotta Erickson, violinist; address, Pastor Wallace Johnson, Chandler's Valley, vocal duet, "The Lord Is My Light" by Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Borg, accompanied by Mrs. Jacobson.

Remarks were then heard from Rev. Martin Hamlin, of Calvary Baptist church and secretary of the Warren County Ministerial Association; Dr. H. A. Rinard, First Lutheran minister, and Rev. Erik Dahlheim, of Bethlehem Congregational church. To conclude, St. Paul's choir sang "Saviour, Breathe An Evening Blessing" by Ambrose, with organ and violin accompaniment.

Farewell gifts were presented Rev. Edquist by Robert Swanson, president of the board of trustees, acting on behalf of the congregation; and to Mrs. Edquist, by Mrs. Carl Lundahl, concluding, Dorothy Ann Lundahl and Eleanor Wester presented to the departing pastor a leather scroll bearing autographs of several hundred members and friends, the work of Robert Hedberg. A hymn, "God Be With You," was sung and Dr. Rinard pronounced the benediction.

A social hour followed in the church dining room, with refreshments served by women of the church and the following presiding at flower-centered tables: Mrs. Allen Carlson, Mrs. Gust Carlson, Mrs. Harold A. Nelson and Mrs. Harold T. Nelson.

Farewell Is Given Popular Pastor Here

Approximately 100 persons, members and friends of the congregation, gathered in the First Church of the United Brethren to bid farewell to Rev. William G. Woodward, who has made many friends among our people and in the community. He leaves this week to take up his duties as pastor of St. Andrew's church in New Castle.

The program for the occasion opened with a hymn, "He Keeps Me Singing," followed by Scripture by Mrs. S. B. Caldwell and prayer by Mrs. Walter Holt. An entertaining skit was presented by boys of Mrs. Jackson's class, followed by a hymn, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus."

Another skit, "Louisiana Trip," was given by the Jackson sisters, followed by a duet by Charles and Curtis Lawson; poem, "Goodbye," by Mrs. McWilliams; piano solo, Jean Eames.

Mr. Caldwell represented the Brotherhood in special remarks and Rev. J. C. Wygant spoke for his First Evangelical congregation and the Warren County Ministerial Association. L. E. Nason presented a suitable gift to Mr. Woodward, which was accepted in his usual pleasing manner and with his gratitude.

A social hour concluded the very pleasant occasion. Guests included Rev. and Mrs. Harold Lindquist of Westerville, O.; Mrs. Chaffee and daughter, of Williamsville, N. Y.

Thursday and Friday evenings of this week; also at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday, all in charge of Rev. Fred Smith, of Sheffield. There will be no Saturday evening service, it is stated.

ROTARY SPEAKER

James G. Lewis, industrial scrap specialist of the War Production Board, placed before Rotary members many interesting facts on this portion of the war effort when he addressed the club's noon luncheon-meeting Monday at the YWCA. The importance of such a program and continued stress upon it was emphasized by the speaker, who has been heard here on several occasions in similar vein. Because of the summer stay-at-home-camp program of the Girl Reserves, the Rotarians will meet in the Y cafeteria again next Monday noon.

WHEN a street or a road is crowded, you can see it. But you can't see when the Long Distance lines are crowded. So the operator will tell you when the circuit you want is extra busy. Then she will ask you to limit your Long Distance call to not more than 5 minutes.

That will help others to get their calls through, too. Of course, there won't be congestion every time you call, but when there is we know you'll be glad to co-operate. Thanks for all your help so far. War needs the wires more and more every day.

Chapter 6

"JUST me. Nobody 'cept me," old Gibbs told Ann when she asked him who else knew that Terrence spring was a fake. "Just me."

"But . . . why did she do it, Gibbs?"

His gaze was steady. "I reckon she done it for you, Miss Ann. For you and Lydia. It were bout the year you was a hankerin' after some big school and your mother wasn't a goin' to let you go and Miss Gussie says she's got to do somethin'. So she did. She thought up the spring." He nodded his approval.

Ann was staggered. She had known her grandmother's fortunes changed with the discovery of the mineral spring but not that the mineral spring had been "discovered" by the simple expedient of inventing it.

Now, more than ever, she must get Terrence House herself and close it to the wealthy, idle guests who paid to bathe in and drink from a spring that didn't exist.

But until then she'd keep the spring going. She wouldn't let Grand Gussie down.

She wouldn't let the town down either. For no matter what her grandmother had done she had done it grandly and Ann would preserve the legend.

She handed Gibbs a $10 bill. "When that's used up come back, Gibbs. I—I think I can give you a little more."

the kind of weekly cleanings her grandmother gave it.

But Ann knew. She had watched it done on several occasions. And she would do it herself when she had time to figure it out.

Now she was too distressed by the events of the last twenty-four hours to think of the cage.

She was not Grand Gussie's granddaughter by adoption. Neither was she heirless by will unless a will could be found. It looked as though Jerry Lane would inherit the big house by default.

Inherit the fake well, too. That was what troubled her. He'd sell the house to Mr. Baxter's clients.

Ann'd discover the fraud and as likely as not would sue him. Then the whole secret would be out and Grand Gussie would be disgraced.

Ann couldn't let that happen. But she was letting it happen.

The idea that she might appeal to Jerry's sense of fair play kept nudging its way into her consciousness but her pride rejected it. It was too much like asking favor of a conqueror.

Yet by morning she knew it was the only way open to her. She would appeal to him on a sentimental basis to let her buy Terrence House herself. If he was sympathetic she might be able to make some long time terms that a clerk's salary could eventually meet. Surely he'd be reasonable in selling her a house that by all rights should be hers in the first place.

She was grateful her trunk had come from the station. She selected a jumper frock of gold jersey with a white satin blouse. The blouse was trimmed in tiny ruffles of lace. It was one of her most flattering costumes. Putting it on she felt as might an accused in court trying to win acquittal by the use of feminine charms. But she didn't care. If the gold jersey would help soften Jerry's heart as much the better.

With nervous fingers she reached for the house phone and asked for his room.

He answered promptly. "I . . . I have to see you," she managed to say. "Could you meet me downstairs in the library?"

"Certainly." She thought there was surprise in his voice but it so he was quick to conceal it.

She couldn't read anything in his face either when they faced each other in the study.

He motioned for her to be seated on the big davenport before the fireplace but she refused. What she had to say could be better said on her feet.

"I . . . you see . . ." she groped for the right words and hated herself. She was as jittery as a school girl confronted by an oral examination. "It's just that I'd always counted on having Terrence House for a—a home and I find I can't inherit it."

"You admit you can't inherit it?" His formality appalled her. Yesterday he had seemed ready to meet her half way, to go more than half way if she made the right sign. But today he had retreated behind a cold exterior. "You're renouncing your claim?"

"Oh, how impersonal he was. How unbending. Her face flushed at the memory of the accusation she had flung at him in Mr. Baxter's office. . . . the polite way for a gentleman to commit grand larceny—smart enough to hire a lawyer who did."

Well, perhaps he had reason to resent her. Actually she had called him a thief.

"I'm not renouncing my claim," she said evenly, "because so far it seems I have none. But Terrence House means a great deal to me. Sentiment. . . . I was glad her voice quavered. It would add conviction to the words she wanted to say. "It was my grandmother's home. I . . . I would like to make it my home, too."

"I didn't make the law," he said without warmth. "Then . . . I have a proposition to make to you."

"If . . . if you do inherit it, would you be willing to let me buy it from you? Let me have it instead of strangers?"

PLANE PRODUCTION BEGINS TO TELL

According to Max Hill, Associated Press war analyst who is substituting for DeWitt MacKenzie, who is on vacation, "the Axis is feeling the full impact of America's tremendous plane production, both on land and at sea, after months of delays which seem inherent in a democracy."

He thinks it must come as quite a shock to the Hitler-Mussolini-Tojo combine that the United Nations now have awakened to the credo expressed so aptly by a Japanese when he was criticized for the tactics of the Rising Sun army in China.

This Japanese said tartly, and with evident scorn toward his interrogator's attitude: "Nobody ever has discovered a polite way to kill a man."

Our air power virtually unaided brought about the surrender of the three Italian islands in the Mediterranean—Pantelleria, Lampedusa and Linosa—but most qualified observers are convinced this will not be the case with Germany and Italy proper.

History backs them up, and in some instances bombing has had an effect completely the reverse of the one desired. Britain's resistance was stiffened, not broken, by approximately nine months of steady raids.

One of the reasons the Spanish Republicans fought so ferociously around Barcelona was the devastating and constant bombing of that city.

"We'll shoot down every plane that comes over, and if we run out of ammunition we will reach out with our bare hands and pull them down," one infuriated soldier exclaimed to an American correspondent. Naturally he exaggerated, but it was his spirit which counted.

How are we to know, then, to what fury and what hatred the current bombings of Germany may arouse the Nazis?

There is another phase which enters seriously into the question of mass bombing of the European continent. We lost 26 Fortresses Sunday, and the British lost 24 bombers Saturday. Until a more specific announcement of damage done is released it cannot be said accurately whether the raids were worth the cost of almost 500 skilled and patiently trained men and millions of dollars worth of flying equipment.

WHAT TO WRITE TO SERVICEMEN

The Office of War Information offers these pointers for homefolks writing to soldiers, sailors and marines—based on suggestions gathered in a survey among servicemen at home and overseas, in cooperation with the Special Service Division of the Army Service Forces:

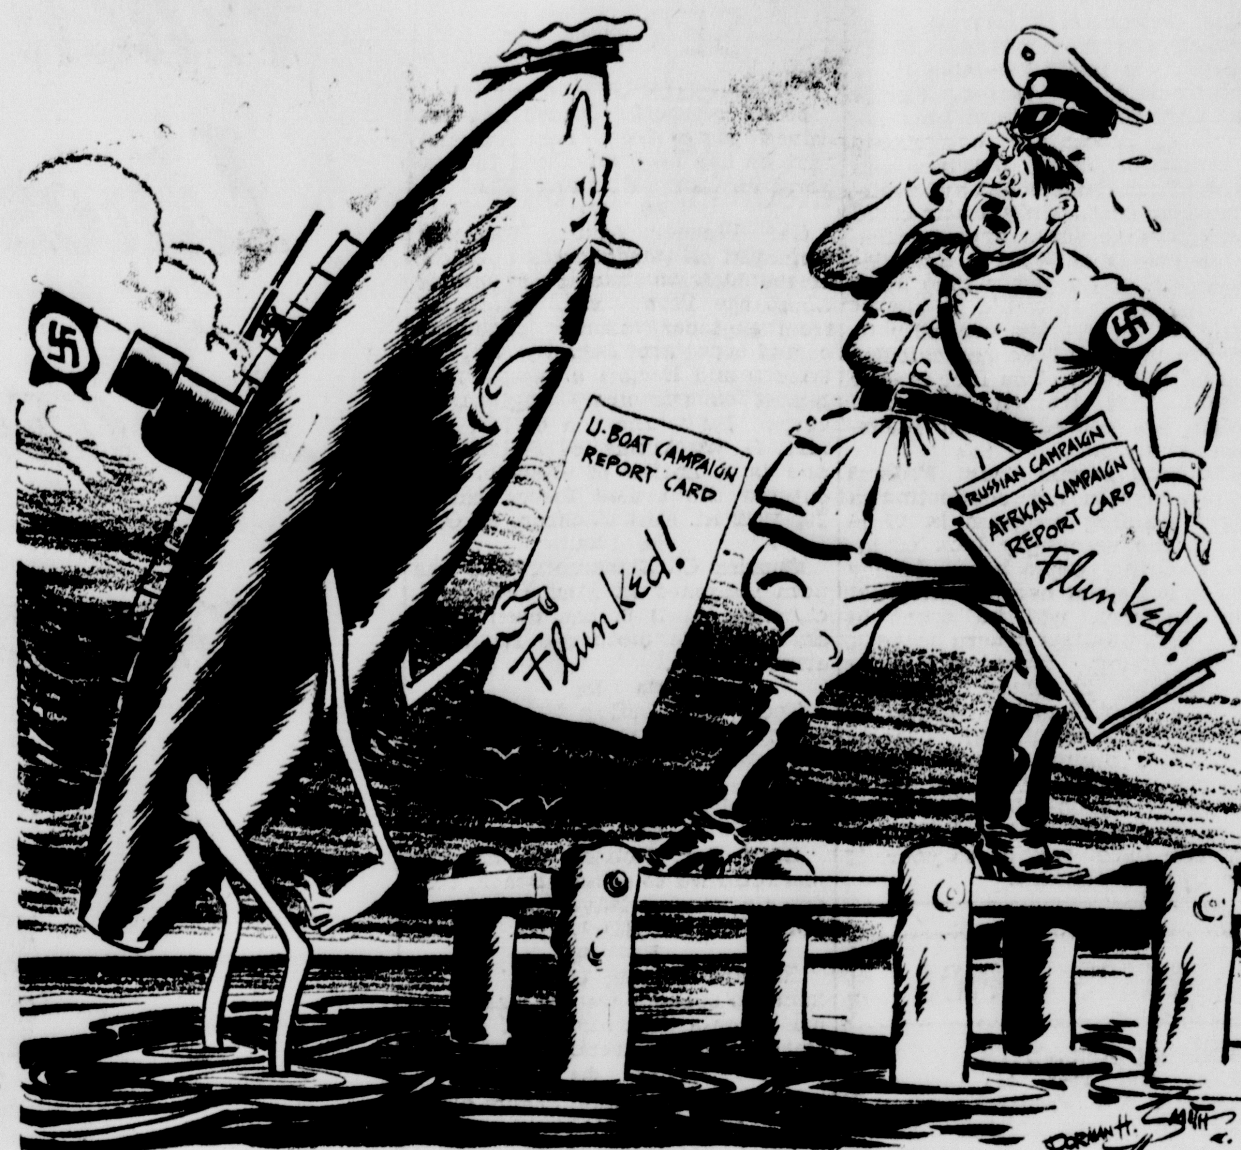

- Tell him:
1. How the family is doing everything possible to help in the war.
  2. How anxious the family is for the boy's return.
  3. How well and busy the family is. Give details.
  4. How the family is getting along financially.
  5. What's doing in the community: news about girls (single) he knows, doings of friends, who's marrying whom, exploits of the home team and other sport events, social doings, effects of the war on the home town. Reminisce a little about past events and places the boy used to visit. Enclose clippings from the home town paper.
- Don't tell him:
1. Your troubles. He has troubles of his own.
  2. Your complaints. He can't do anything about them.
  3. About things you are deprived of. He can't supply them.
  4. Doleful predictions about the future. He's fighting for that future—now.
  5. Unnecessary details about financial troubles. If there are things he should know about family finances, and he is in a position to do something about the situation, tell him. But don't string it out.

Perfect June weather, combined with a patriotic fervor on the part of the people of the community unsurpassed since the first World War, provided the setting for one of the greatest Flag Day celebrations in the history of the borough last evening. Sponsored by the Warren Lodge of Elks, who had the wholehearted cooperation of citizens generally, the event proved both a surprise and delight to all, and for this the Elks are deserving of the highest praise.

But four more days in which to do your Father's Day shopping—in case you have any money left after paying that income tax installment.

That was a most creditable display of the Stars and Stripes in Warren yesterday.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — There's so much talk of post-war planning these days, it's hard to see the war through the clouds over the future.

But don't get me wrong. The lack of post-war planning has been the prelude to more wars and more economic disasters than all other factors combined. The trouble is that most outlines for peace are nebulous ideologies which are not backed up by hard-headed, two-fisted, practical blueprints.

Wilson's 14 Points, President Roosevelt's Four Freedoms, the Atlantic Charter—with its Pacific extensions and the Good Neighbor Policy—are wonderful moons to shoot at, if somebody back home is building the rocket ships that will get us there.

That's why I want to tell you about a little movement starting here in Washington today. At the moment, it doesn't amount to much. In the scheme of things to come for a U. S. A. at peace, it may amount to a whole lot.

THE movement is simply one to save our present federal-aid highway system and to blueprint a network of shuttle roads between traffic centers that will take care of every center of traffic congestion from Four Corners on market day to New York on Sunday night.

Just getting established in Washington now is the Automobile Safety Foundation, headed by Pyke Johnson. Surrounding it are the federal road agencies, certain sympathetic highway leaders in Congress, the American Association of State Highway Officials, the American Automobile Association and several other road groups. On Johnson's staff is S. Donald Kennedy, former Michigan highway commissioner, who will devote his full time to the future modernization of the nation's highways and the elimination of traffic snarls.

THEIR immediate objective is passage of legislation now pending to provide that federal funds already authorized, but which the states have been unable to absorb because of material and manpower shortages, shall remain available to the states when peace comes. By June 30, that will amount to something like $475,000,000—which will build a heap of highway, especially when augmented by state funds. By the time this war is over, it probably would amount to the greatest road-building project ever.

These fellows snort at the idea of trans-continental super-highways, with six or eight lanes and a toll gate at every turn-off or cut-in. They knock you down with such statistics as this: there are no more than 300 cars a day crossing the continent; and 85 per cent of all traffic is confined to the so-called "metropolitan" centers.

Congressional highway experts think that of all the post-war planners, the road men are closest to being on the peacetime beam. Maybe they are right. It's the same gang that got America "out of the mud" 40 years ago.

Here's How to Sow Seed In Hot, Dry Weather

A Narrow Board Used to Shade the Row After Sowing Will Speed Germination.

In sowing seeds in hot, dry weather, for late crops of short-harvest varieties, it is usually more difficult to obtain good germination than it is in the cool, moist weather of spring.

Special precautions should therefore be taken. Drills should be made deeper than in the spring, and the soil thoroughly soaked along them. Then sow the seed and do not cover them sufficiently to fill the drill entirely, but leaving a slight depression which will catch any moisture that may fall in dews or light rains.

If, in addition, the row can be covered with narrow boards, to shade the soil from the sun and check evaporation, germination will usually result in normal time. Lacking such boards, the row may be covered with paper, or burlap. The board is preferable, and it can be lifted an inch or so above the ground, on cross pieces of wood, so that air circulates freely beneath it, if desired, to check any danger of damping off.

It is important to prevent the formation of a soil crust over seeds before they have germinated. This may result from a heavy rain, followed by baking in the hot sun. In clay soil it may prevent the seeds from emerging. Shading avoids this danger.

Whatever shading material is used, as soon as the seeds appear above the surface it must be lifted to allow full sunlight to the young plants. Until these have become well established, daily sprinkling with a hose will prove beneficial.

Except for such a specific purpose, however, the Victory garden should never be sprinkled. Dust should be encouraged to form over the soil; it will enable air to penetrate and rains to soak in.

The Parade

to the thousands that lined the streets over which the parade passed.

In the line were bands and drum corps, playing stirring music of martial nature and from the "We Are Doing Our Part" group of men and women real-izing in the fight it was a spectacular display of the might America.

The parade formed on Fourth avenue near the Elks Home and it was exactly at 7:15 when the parade marched the members of the Elks Lodge of Elks. Led by the star studded Service Flag Lodge turned out the largest parade ever to respond to the quest to honor Old Glory. Ranks of the marchers were serried by the service flag men who were carrying shot and shell in the hands and the service flag won many words of commendation along the route.

The Home Defense units were well represented in line. The Military Police with their helmets and batons; the Air Raid wardens with helmets and first aid kits; the Nurses Aides; Junior Commandos in good formation; V. W. and Legion Units; Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts; Scouts of the OGD Messenger Service and others all added color and roused the spirit of the hours spent in the parade to attain their goals. The Airman of the County Defense Council, Allan Gibson; Command-Forrest Waite of the Control Unit and other heads of the Division Units were all in line.

Marching in the First Division was the chairman of the committee, Mr. Lowrey and Congressman on Gavin, who later delivered an address of the evening.

All in all it was one of the most colorful and beautiful parades that has ever marched over Warren's streets. The massed ranks at the head of the parade were especially beautiful.

Applause along the route was vociferous. Rather it was a beautiful crowd that lined the streets. Men and women saluted the flag as it appeared at intervals and the fact was impressed on the minds of the marchers that hands passed that this was a time parade and that Old Glory was the emblem for which every American is willing to give his life, fortune and sacred honor.

emergency just as we have met every other peril. What will protect our sacred freedom will be the determination of an aroused, unified people working together, serving together, fighting together, and sacrificing together to defend and preserve our democratic way of life.

The impressive rites were conducted by officers of the Elks lodge on the flag-draped veranda facing Hickory street, with the lawn and pavement surrounding the commodious home jammed with interested spectators.

Delbert Lewis, exalted ruler of the lodge, was in charge. Officers who also participated in the formation of the Liberty Bell ceremony were H. J. Harvey, J. G. Smallman, C. T. Berdine and R. B. Frederick.

H. D. Baker in a forceful manner traced the history of the flag since its authorization on June 14, 1777, by the Continental Congress.

Robert Lunquist, Warren high school senior who was a member of this year's graduation class, sang "This is Worth Fighting For," as his first number and later in the program sang "I Pledge Allegiance to the Flag." In both instances he was enthusiastically applauded. Carroll A. Fowler accompanied him on the piano.

The combined VFW-Forge band opened the program by playing a stirring march, following the altar service a number was played by the Struthers-Wells Navy Band. After the pledge of allegiance the Youngsville High school band accompanied the audience led by Robert Lunquist in the National Anthem.

The audience remained standing while Robert W. Mackay, chairman of the War Finance Committee for Warren County, presented two flag awards to Allan Gibson, chairman of the Warren County Council of Defense. One flag was the "County Quota Flag," awarded for exceeding the total county quota in the Second War Loan campaign. The second was the "County Honor Pennant," which was awarded to Warren County for having attained the remarkable record of 180% of its non-bank quota in the last drive.

The program was brought to a close with the Jamestown Drum and Bugle Corps playing a snappy number.

In presenting the flags to Mr. Gibson Mr. Mackay took occasion to thank residents of the county for generous cooperation given the committee which resulted in the emblems being awarded. Mr. Gibson in accepting the flags on behalf of the Defense Council urged citizens to continue to invest in Stamps and War Bonds so that the men and women in the armed services will know that they are being backed up by people on the home front.

The committee in charge of the observance was composed of Ed Lowrey, chairman, Ben Kinnear, marshal, Walter Kiser, Homer Fitch, Donald E. McComas, James Scallise, B. H. Mathis, Glenn Stone, H. D. Baker, H. J. Harvey, Donald Smith and Harry Christensen, assisted by Capt. Arthur Dickinson, K. W. Davis and M. G. Keller.

Piano Students From Russell Studio Are Presented in Recital

Pupils of the Russell Piano Studios presented a most delightful recital at the Woman's Club Friday evening, a large and enthusiastic audience greeting the young performers. Each number was given in a finished and artistic manner.

Solo numbers were interspersed with a selection by the rhythm orchestra, which is always pleasing; a Norwegian dance by a Norwegian dancer by a group of girls in costume, which was well received, and several well played two-piano compositions.

Patty Gibson, Rowell Hoff, Maxine Beebe and Jimmy Hildum gave an excellent performance of "Invitation to the Dance" by Weber and the Concerto in G Minor by Mendelssohn played by Harriet Lind, with orchestra parts at the second piano by Evelyn Samuelson, was done with fine execution and good interpretation.

Other young instrumentalists heard were Muriel Ryberg, Joyce Beebe, Joann Langdon, Joyce Smith, Nancy Johnson, Constance Samuelson, Rachel and Ruth Kamenick, Millie McManus, Barbara and Norma Jean Pierce, Martha Ryberg.

The girls' chorus, 14 in all, directed by Mrs. Betty Smith, appeared in a cycle of flower songs by Arthur Foote, singing in a delightful manner and each number portraying the atmosphere of its flower title. Mary Sigworth sang the alto solo in "The Foxglove," Elvira Rydholm had the soprano solos in "Meadow Rose" and Media Alsen carried the soprano obbligato in "The Cardinal Flower."

Others in the chorus were Marcia Baxter, Martha Jones, Kathleen Simmons, Lillian Ristau, Ruth Ackert, Anne Harrington, Gloria Genge, Carol Kirberger, Carmen Hendrickson, Carolyn Huber and Anna Nichols. Much credit is due Mrs. Smith for the finished work of these young singers.

Elks and National Forge Clash on Russell Field Tonight

Youngsters Given a Chance To Defeat Unbeaten Irvineton Outfit; Big Crowd Expected

Tonight, the Warren Lodge of Elks (formerly Pirates), rated as just about the best young team ever to compete in Warren, locks horns with the highly touted Irvineton Forge at 6:15.

Awaited with keen interest for two weeks, this tilt will perhaps break all attendance records for the year. After the Elks knocked off Struthers-Wells in their first Sunset League encounter on the 5-hit pitching works of Jimmy Urbanski, star hurler for the high school team, fans about town have would take place.

The National Forge, home-bound for the time being have won two games from the Struthers team this year, both by small margins and with the way the youngsters looked in taking over the local defense crew, the boys are looking forward to this game, giving it even betting all the way through. Still no reports have come from the Forge as to their pitcher for tonight, but it is definite that Jimmy Urbanski will square off for the youngsters in their second fracas for the Sunset Loop of 1943.

Deadline For Making Trades In Major Leagues Arrives With Several In Prospect

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Today is the deadline for making trades in the major leagues without running the baseball gauntlet known as getting waivers.

The David Harman of the diamond made a couple of restless moves yesterday that indicated they may do some more important business today.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have been trying to peddle Joe Medwick for several weeks, but if Branch Rickey has made up his mind to turn loose the one-time great slugger of the National League, this is the day he might do it.

The club that would be most likely to take him would be the New York Giants, floundering in seventh place. The Giants not only need strength on the field, but they need to convince their fans that the management is trying to get talent.

Yesterday the Giants traded Outfielder Hebert (Babe) Barna to the Boston Red Sox for Southpaw Pitcher Ken Chase. Neither has accomplished anything notable in the last two years, but the transaction left the implication that President Horace Stoneham hoped to come up with an outfielder from some other source.

With Barna gone the Giants have only three outfielders and Sid Gordon, a combination infielder-outfielder.

The Giants also recalled two pitchers, Hugh East and Rube Fischer, from their Jersey City farm club in the International League, replacing them with Ken Trinkle and Bob Coombs.

Another deal yesterday was the purchase of Infielder Don Heffner from the St. Louis Browns by the Philadelphia Athletics. He will be used as a utility man.

Only three games were on yesterday's program, but they enabled the leaders in both leagues to increase their margins.

The New York Yankees whipped the Washington Senators 4-1 with the help of errors by the Senators and six-hit pitching by Spud Chandler, who acquired his seventh victory against one defeat. The triumph increased New York's lead over Washington to three games.

In the National League the world champion St. Louis Cardinals checked the Cincinnati Reds 5-3.

The Boston Braves beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 4-3 in a twilight tussle to take their five-game series 3 to 2.

Firing School Is Registering Teen Age Boys

Officials of the Warren small arms firing school state today that registrations will be accepted on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the armory for both teen age youths and fathers subject to the draft.

Attention is also called to the fact that those who register for this next class, as well as members who have completed their basic training course, will be given an opportunity to fire over the army qualification "E" course which will be held the latter part of the month at the outdoor range of the Complanter Gun Club.

These qualification matches set up by the army are fired on the 100-yard range. The course of fire is 10-shots prone and five shots sitting and kneeling showfire, followed by 10-shots prone and 10 sitting, rapid fire. For rapid fire a silhouette target representing the head and shoulders of an enemy lying on the ground is used. The possible score is 200. Those making 180 or better are rated expert; 160 to 180, sharpshooter and 130 to 160, marksmen.

A ruling by the OPA states that cars may be driven by persons who are eligible. Those who have not yet registered are asked to please do so immediately, or to contact any of the officers of the Warren small arms firing school.

Rare Punch Displayed By Mello Bettina

By Ted Meier

Philadelphia, June 15—(AP)—Corp. Mello Bettina, who makes no secret of the fact that after the war he'd like to change his armband for the belt of heavyweight champion Joe Louis, had a new reason today to believe that he can do it—left hand punch that would tell an ox.

The former lightweight champion from Beacon, N. Y., exhibited that punch last night, ending a year's absence from the ring by knocking out Lou Brooks of Wilmington, Del., so fast that most of the 6,543 spectators (gross gate $13,489.75) had to buy a newspaper to find out what happened.

The blow temporarily blinded Brooks, who hung on the ropes crying, "I can't see." Referee Irving Kutcher led him to his corner and raised Bettina's hand in 1:49 of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Many in the crowd, missing the lightning left to Brooks' left eye, booed the negro, but Dr. Ralph Lanciano, state athletic commission physician, said later, "He did the only thing he could have done—quit."

In a game played at Beaty Field Sunday afternoon the St. Joe Boys' Club defeated Page Hollow 22 to 0. "Whitney" Weidert pitched a three hitter with only 31 batters facing him. He had 19 strikeouts. Meneo led the hitting with three bingles. The box score:

 can vessels on duty. Knox said, out also to the fact that "our men are learning the trade right along."

Before the war America had 111 submarines built and 174 being built, according to the last naval figures made public.

The secretary declared that 20 destroyer escort vessels, the navy's number one anti-submarine type of craft, are expected to be completed this month and turned over to the fleet for shakedown cruises.

Knox emphasized that in his opinion the campaign against enemy submarines "won't be won until the war is over."

Breaking another of its periodic silences on submarine warfare, the navy said yesterday its undersea forces had sunk a destroyer and 11 other Japanese ships mostly cargo vessels, probably sank an additional craft and damaged three more.

In another graphic disclosure, the navy told how one of its submarines slugged it out with a Japanese submarine on the surface and sank it.

These fresh triumphs cushioned and avenged—loss of the submarines Amberjack and Grampus which the navy said last weekend were missing with their crews and presumed sunk.

In Philadelphia

 Some Pittsburgh hotels have begun to abandon luxury service.

The William Penn and Roosevelt, however, indicated they were opposed to such a move, a spokesman declaring "we will maintain these services just as long as it is humanly possible."

In yesterday's raids, Allied fighters hammered the Japanese strongholds at Kama, Babo and Tuan Islands.

On the Burma front American and British planes continued their unrelenting attack on Japanese occupation forces, bombing the enemy base at Akhe on the Bay of Bengal, east, near the Japanese troops and blasting railways.

In the China campaign, the Chinese command announced that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies had won a fresh success in driving the Japanese invaders back along the upper Yangtze river front.

 and by daylight today another big formation of Allied bombers—presumably U. S. Flying Fortresses—roared back across the channel to renew the offensive.

Not counting last night's attack, more than 6,000 tons of Allied bombs had been rained on the Reich since Friday.

German night raiders bombed suburban London in brief hit-and-run thrusts, killing seven persons and trapping many others in wrecked homes, but heavy anti-aircraft fire forced most of the enemy to jettison their bombs in open fields outside the city itself.

 Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced a new series of Allied aerial blows against Japanese bases above Australia yesterday in the wake of Sunday's heavy attack by U. S. flying torpedoes and Liberators in which nearly 60,000 pounds of explosives were dropped on the enemy keyhole at Rabaul, New Britain. Two planes were lost.

In addition, a 4,600-ton enemy transport was blasted with 500-pound bombs and left aflame in Humboldt Bay, Dutch New Guinea, and 11 Japanese barges were sunk or damaged off the New Guinea coast.

LOCALS

The meeting of the Brokenstraw Garden Club, scheduled to meet Tuesday of this week with Mrs. Maude Long, because of illness has been postponed and there will be
